your voice for education

Knowledge . Passion . Commitment

JOSEPHINE BAU is a retired community engagement and strategic planning professional with ample experience in education and early learning and care. She has been an active volunteer since 1997 and was honoured with a number of awards for her outstanding leadership and dedication to the community.

“Education brings progress and development through knowledge and enlightenment. It gives hope to everyone, especially parents who migrate to Canada to give their children a better future. I am committed to working with parents, students and community towards an enhanced education system that provides students of diverse background and abilities the best foundation for future success.” – Josephine Bau

PRIORITIES

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Basics and Problem Solving Skills - Review math curriculum and align resources to provide students with a solid foundation in academics; home and school work together to foster literacy, numeracy and problem solving skills

EQAO Improvements

- Analyze and learn from school communities whose scores declined or improved most
- Set up school teams of teachers, parents, and students to address identified key issues
- Provide teachers, parents and students with improvement strategies and tools
- Arrange one-on-one mentoring by peers or retired professionals for underachieving students as required

COMMUNITY CONNECTEDNESS

Peel is diverse. It is important to help students stay connected and engaged with the larger community and to instill in them compassion and understanding of people who face obstacles and challenges in life.

WHOLE CHILD DEVELOPMENT

Supporting the whole child means supporting the child's academic achievement as well as his or her cognitive, emotional, social and physical well-being. Students who have strong relationships and a positive sense of self – and who can understand and manage their own health and emotions – are in a better position to reach their full potential in the future.

ACCOUNTABILITY

- School board, teachers and parents all have a significant role in developing well-rounded students and responsible citizens and equipping them with the knowledge and practical skills required for both the workplace and in life.
- Students take responsibilities for self, including learning, behaviours, relationships, and emotions; and respect parents, teachers and peers.
